

1. Dobla el rectángulo a la mitad (una orilla sobre la otra) para duplicar la longitud.
 2. Desdobra y vuelve a doblar a lo largo según el patrón.
 3. Corta la goma/elástico según la medida del patrón.
 4. Sujeta con alfileres el borde largo de la tira y cóselo dejando los dos lados cortos abiertos. Da la vuelta al tubo para ponerlo del derecho.
 5. Engancha el elástico a un imperdible y pásalo por dentro del tubo de tela.
 6. Ata los extremos del elástico (con la tela fruncida en el centro) y cierra los extremos cortos cosiéndolos. Ya tienes un scrunchie.
1. Fold the rectangle in half (one side over the other) so it's twice as long.
 2. Unfold, then refold lengthwise following the pattern.
 3. Cut elastic to the pattern length.
 4. Pin the long edge of the fabric strip and sew it, leaving both short ends open. Turn the tube right-side out.
 5. Attach the elastic to a safety pin and pull it through the fabric tube.
 6. Tie the elastic ends together (with the scrunched fabric centered), then close the short ends of the tube by sewing them shut. You now have a scrunchie.
